

WERE TURKISH VESSELS SUNK IN NAVAL BATTLE OFF CORFU AS REPORTED IN DISPATCHES? HOLY WAR APPEARS IMMINENT

MANY REPORTS RECEIVED FROM THE SEAT OF WAR BY VARIOUS SOURCES TODAY.

TURKEY WILL FIGHT

Sends Army to Reinforce Garrison Which Abandoned Preveza—Arabs Armed for Conflict Near Tripoli.

London, Oct. 2.—A despatch to Lloyd's from Corfu says two Turkish torpedo boats were sunk and a third captured off Gumentza near Preveza by the Italian fleet.

Was Occupied. A correspondent at Malta telegraphs: "I am informed by one of the crew of the British cruiser Aboukir which has arrived here that the vessel received a wireless dispatch stating that Tripoli had been occupied by the Italians."

Another Report. Chisnago, Switzerland, Oct. 2.—It is reported that on Saturday, Admiral Aubrey was suddenly ordered to postpone the bombardment of Tripoli as there were signs of possibility of reaching an understanding with Turkey through intervention of certain powers, thus avoiding a continuation of the war.

Turkish Fleet.

London, Oct. 2.—The Turkish fleet's fate is still uncertain. Correspondents in Rome of outside European newspapers stick to their story that it was practically destroyed in an engagement with an Italian squadron at the western entrance to the Dardanelles, only one of the Sultan's ships remaining afloat.

Only One Division.

The Italian marine ministry's version has it, however, that the Italians met only one division of the Turkish fleet, sinking three battleships and damaging others so seriously as to amount to the complete annihilation of the division. The Turkish minister of marine admits the loss of only

PROPOSE TO MAKE OCTOBER TWELFTH NATIONAL HOLIDAY

Wisconsin Branch of Knights of Columbus Propose Making Columbus Day Observed by Nation—To Gather in Madison.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

Madison, Wis., Oct. 2.—To make Columbus day, October 12, a public holiday in every state of the union is the purpose of a movement started by the Knights of Columbus, the Wisconsin branch of which will work for the enactment of a law in the next legislature. Celebrations of Columbus day this year will be held at Madison, Milwaukee and other cities, and the propaganda to spread this sentiment there will be given impetus. Twenty-nine states now legally recognize Columbus day by making it a holiday.

At the Madison celebration, to be held in the evening at the high school gymnasium, where a banquet will be held, the speakers will include M. V. Kinnally, a Chicago lawyer of note; Prof. M. G. Hoban, Marquette university, Milwaukee; and former Congressman J. W. Murphy, Platteville. In the afternoon there will be a joint initiation by the Madison and Watertown councils in the lodge rooms. A special train will carry the Watertown contingent to their homes at midnight. Delegations will come from Watertown, Barabois, Janesville, Monroeville and Beloit, and 400 visitors are expected.

Attorney William Ryan, grand knight of the Madison lodge, said today: "Already some twenty-nine states have marked the anniversary of the discovery of America by making October 12 a holiday, and Wisconsin should not lag behind in so worthy a movement. A law to this end will be proposed for passage by the next legislature."

WORK PROGRESSES ON NEW CAPITOL

Setting of Granite on the New South Wing Has Progressed to Top of Third Story.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

Madison, Wis., Oct. 2.—The setting of the granite on the new south wing of Wisconsin's $5,000,000 capitol building has progressed to the top of the third story and the steel work for the roof is being placed. By next summer it is hoped to have some of the offices ready for occupancy. The new wing has been connected with the east and west wings by the setting of the granite walls in the corners, and the entrances in the corners have been built. These are to be known as the main entrances to the capitol. There will be one in every corner. Construction of the concrete walls for the terrace is now going on in the north corner of the park, and grading continues in the east portion.

William Jennings Bryan Proposed Toast to President Before Four Hundred Guests.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 2.—President Taft received a cordial, nonpartisan welcome to Nebraska and to Lincoln today. William J. Bryan, rising before four hundred guests at luncheon given here in Taft's home, proposed a toast to the President of the United States.

ANNUAL BUDGET TO COME UP TONIGHT

Will Be Presented by City Clerk Cummings at Meeting of Common Council Held This Evening.

At the regular meeting of the common council to be held at the city hall this evening City Clerk R. M. Cummings will present the annual budget of the amounts of money required for the ensuing year by the different funds. Other reports which will probably come before it are the municipal court report and report of the board of education. The rest of the business promises to be of the usual routine character. The amounts for the various municipal funds as stated in the budget drawn up are as follows:

Bonded debt, $23,450. This includes the sum of $17,600, the estimated receipts from saloon license. Lighting fund, $22,000; Judgment fund, $600; Library fund, $1,000; Memorial day fund, $75.

The bridge fund has a balance of $3,716.77. It will cost about $4000 to finish the work on Spring Brook bridge. R. J. Cummings, ex-officio comptroller.

STATE IN CHARGE OF AUSTIN TODAY BURYING DEAD; 415 FOR LIVING

DEATH LIST WILL NOT BE SO GREAT AS AT FIRST INSTANCE ANTICIPATED.

INQUIRIES STARTED

County and State Will Both Seek to Lay the Blame for the Disaster Where it Belongs.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Austin, Pa., Sept. 2.—With the arrival of a carload of coffins here this morning the grimness of the tragedy which practically obliterated this town was impressed upon the survivors and a considerable number of workers, who today began their efforts to mine deeply into the hills of debris.

Twenty Victims.

Twenty victims, including two at Costello, have been placed in a temporary morgue at the Old Police station, one of the few buildings standing in the ruined district and well informed investigators now place the total dead at not more than two hundred, with the possibility of it not exceeding a hundred and fifty.

State Police.

Austin, Pa., Oct. 2.—Under the direction of the state police and health authorities today order has replaced chaos in the search for the bodies of several hundred victims Saturday when the Bayless Paper Mills dam broke, wiping out most of this village.

Stunned by the disaster, survivors made little concerted effort to recover bodies or care for the homeless until the state authorities took charge.

Two Hundred.

The number of dead is today estimated at from 100 to 200. E. N. Hamlin, superintendent of the Bayless Mills is in a critical condition at a hospital as the result of nervous prostration.

Bodies Recovered.

Thirty-six bodies have been recovered. These are housed in temporary morgues. Most of the victims found have been identified. The majority were women and children.

Under Debris.

Cries from burning debris led rescuers to make frequent attempts to save victims yesterday, but none were rescued, however.

Bodies Burned.

Scores of bodies were burned before the flames were under control and Sunday's rain hindered the rescue work and swelled the undiminished stream. Freeman's Inn, which has cut half a dozen new channels through the wrecked town.

Not more than two score persons who were not killed outright or burned to death were injured. None of these will die. But a few of the survivors have abandoned the town, most of them having lost relatives and they are facing a food famine.

In Control.

The state authorities are in charge of the distribution of food rushed from nearby towns. All through the night rescuers worked frantically and sought to put out the smoldering fires.

Who Is Responsible?

There is one topic that never lapses—who is responsible? It is now known that for over a year the shadow of disaster has hung over the little town. At that time serious defects were discovered in the dam. An investigation was made and repairs recommended.

Engineers in Charge.

W. Everett Van Wert, New York manager of the Raparum Lumber company, which controls the Bayless Pulp Mill, owner of the dam, admits that a year ago the company officials knew the dam might give away at any moment but insisted that adequate repairs were made at that time. Two investigations to fix criminal responsibility started today.

State Investigation.

The district attorney of Potter county is conducting one and the state water commissioner is inaugurating another. The property loss in and about Austin is estimated at about three million dollars of which one million was sustained by the pulp mill.

Nutmeg Town Elections.

Hartford, Conn., Oct. 2.—Almost all the towns in Connecticut held their annual meetings today for the choice of town officials for the coming year. The occasion is usually referred to in the State as "Little Town Election Day," and in years gone by when a presidential election was to follow, some significance attached to the way the parties fared.

In recent years the political significance of these elections has disappeared, but this year a new interest has been aroused in them by the amendments to the constitution, to give the lieutenant governor larger powers in case of death or disability of the governor, and the other to the effect that "the General Assembly shall adjourn not later than the first Wednesday after the first Monday in June, following the organization." The complications following the death of Governor Lilley showed the necessity of the first of the proposed amendments, and the unusually long session of the legislature this year, out of all proportion to the results, the latter.

In Frisco.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

San Francisco, Oct. 2.—It is stated by union leaders that 95 per cent of the shophen on the Southern Pacific division here are out today and all will leave by tonight, despite statements of the Southern Pacific that the men will return to work by tomorrow. There has been no disorder at any time of the strike.

INVESTIGATION OF ELECTION STARTED

CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEE BEGINS PROBE OF STEPHENSON ELECTION AT MILWAUKEE.

ORDERED BY SENATE

Charge is That Senator Contributed More Than $107,000 For Promotion of His Interests in Violation of Law.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Milwaukee, Oct. 2.—An investigation ordered by the United States senate to discover whether Isaac Stephenson's election to that body in 1908 was attended with corrupt practices was begun in this city today. At the request of the Wisconsin legislature the senate last August appointed a committee to make the inquiry.

The charge is that Stephenson contributed more than $107,000 for the promotion of his interests at a senatorial primary election in 1908 and that his political workers violated the law in the use of much of the fund.

Stephenson is a senator, lumber magnate, multi-millionaire, banker, farmer and ruler of money stock, including Pauline Wayne, the White House cow promoter by him to Taft. His bushy beard and great shock of hair show little sign of the whitening that comes with old age. He is active despite his years and while he has kept close tab on senate affairs he has never raised his voice in the chamber. The term for which he was chosen will end March 3, 1915. He was born eighty-two years ago in New Brunswick.

Two hundred witnesses have been summoned to appear before the committee. Among those whose testimony is considered important are E. A. Edmunds, Appleton, Wis., Stephenson's campaign manager, who is alleged to have spread the aged millionaire's money to succeed to the senate seat; John I. Puelicher, cashier of a bank, said to have been custodian of the Stephenson campaign fund; W. R. Knoll, former sheriff, then of large political influence; three score or more witnesses who testified in a former state legislative probe; and half a hundred district lieutenants who worked under the directions of Campaign Manager Edmunds, and others. Banker Puelicher was unable to undergo a full examination at an investigation by a former legislature because a doctor ordered him to a European health resort, the trip to be made without delay.

Senator Stephenson's friends declare he took no part in his campaign whatever but admit he furnished whatever money his managers asked without protest.

Stephenson was investigated, after the 1908 primary, by a joint committee of the Wisconsin legislature. It comprised five representatives and three senators. The former reported in his favor, the latter against him. Last summer the subject was called up again and both branches of the legislature asked the United States senate to look into the heavy primary expenditures made by Stephenson.

Unusual interest centers in the possibility that Stephenson will appear on the witness stand. Intimations have been spread that he will claim to have contributed money to La Follette's campaign a few years ago when they were political allies. The two senators now are very cordial enemies.

The breach between them came in 1908. It was due, La Follette supporters say, to alleged broken faith on the part of Stephenson. They claim that Stephenson gave a pledge that if he should be elected to serve during a vacancy in the United States senate, from May, 1907, to March 3, 1909, caused by the resignation of Senator John C. Spooner, he would not be a candidate for reelection. He was elected through the aid of La Follette, according to all popular impression, but Stephenson is alleged to have concealed the idea that the Progressive was secretly opposed to him.

In the senate Stephenson allied himself with the "conservative" republicans under the Aldrich leadership and this resulted in attacks upon the venerable magnate by La Follette in his Weekly.

At the end of the senate term caused by the Spooner vacancy, it is charged, Stephenson went back on his promise not to run again, joined in with the Wisconsin standpatters and was reelected.

Stephenson's determination to win another term in the senate in the face of La Follette's opposition, it is said, was responsible for the apparently careless expenditure of money in the fight.

The senate investigators are: Hayburn (Rep., N. J.), chairman; Sutherland (Rep., Utah); Bradley (Rep., Ky.); Paynter (Dem., Ky.); and Pomoren (Dem., Ohio).

North Dakota Rate Cases

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 2.—Master in Chancery R. D. Hoskins today began the hearing in the revived North Dakota rate cases. The cases involve litigation of the United States supreme court decided adversely to the railroads, but at the same time ruled that the cases might be reopened if the rates should be found confiscatory. The present hearings result from an application of the 800 rule, which asked for a reopening of the case.

Churches in Joint Convention.

one cruiser, reporting the rest of the fleet safe at Constantinople.

Arabs on March.

From Malta comes an unconfirmed report that the fanatic Mohammedans of the Tripolitan interior are marching on Tripoli. Massacres of Italians at Derma and Bengazi are also reported, but unconfirmed.

No Interference.

At Constantinople messengers are pouring in upon the Sultan from the heads of the other European governments expressing the warmest feeling of friendship, but uniformly regretting the latter's behalf.

King Active.

According to the latest advices from Italy, King Victor was personally supervising preparation for embarkment of 35,000 additional troops from the occupation of Tripoli.

A Holy War.

Constantinople, Turkey, Oct. 2.—The Sultan has abandoned hope of assistance from the powers. Germany is said to be strongly urging Turkey to yield to Italy. Sentiment in favor of a holy war is growing here, according to reports. In other Mohammedan countries.

Back to Fight.

Constantinople, Oct. 2.—The Turkish garrison of Preveza, which evacuated the town when 1,600 Italians landed from the Duke of Abruzzi's fleet, has been reinforced from Jannina and is returning today to engage the invaders. News of the battle is momentarily expected. Nothing is yet known as to the damage done by the Italian bombardment of Reschadio.

West Point Educator Retires.

West Point, D. C., Oct. 2.—Prof. Samuel E. Tillman, for more than thirty years an instructor at the West Point military academy, was placed on the army retired list today on account of age. Prof. Tillman is a native of Tennessee and graduated from West Point in 1869.

California Labor Federation.

Bakersfield, Cal., Oct. 2.—Bakersfield was today the scene for representatives of organized labor throughout California on the occasion of the opening of the twelfth annual convention of the State Federation of Labor. Discussion of the McNamara defense and other subjects of interest to the labor world will keep the delegates busy until the end of the week.

LOCAL TEAM WINS
THE OPENING GAME

Stoughton Players Give Janesville Eleven a Hard Tussle But Are Defeated, 6 to 0.

It was an agreeable surprise to the Janesville football rooters after the amount of gloom which had been spread broadcast concerning the chances of the local eleven, to have them defeat their opponents from Stoughton by a shut-out score of 6 to 0, after a game of unusual persistence and tenacity, on the athletic grounds Saturday afternoon.

Editor in a brilliant thirty yard run at the very close of the game won the sixth point to the score by kicking a goal just as the timer's whistle sounded the close of the contest. Most of the game was without special excitement aside from this last performance which won the victory. During the first plays it was plainly evident that "McMurray's Men" were rather "green" at the game and were unacquainted with many of the line points.

What was lacking in skill was made up for in spirit and persistence, however, and the team managed to handle their share of the time. Only once did Stoughton get within dangerous distance of the Janesville goal, and then they fumbled, losing their only chance to score. Much of the game was a seesaw, back and forth, with the advantage on neither side, but with a few daring plays and tackles, Counsel for Janesville, making some good attacks.

However important the victory may have been, it will be a source of encouragement to the local players, who will nevertheless continue in strenuous practice to perfect themselves in weak points which were shown in the opening contest. The lineup was:

SCOUTS WILL MEET
ON WEDNESDAY NEXT

Commissioner Reader Has Called for Meeting at 4:30 to Appoint Committee to Take Charge of Coming Concert.

Scout Commissioner Charles W. Reader has called for a meeting of the Janesville Boy Scouts on Wednesday afternoon of the present week at half past four o'clock, for the purpose of appointing committees and making arrangements for the coming concert which is to be given by the Itoney Boys, October 17.

Some difficulty has been experienced in securing a place of meeting as the Spanish War Veterans' hall will be in use on the afternoon of the meeting. It is planned at present to hold the gathering in the municipal court room at the city hall, if such a thing would be agreeable.

At this time the Scouts will receive their tickets for the concert and committees will be named to take charge of the distribution of advertising matter, and to do other necessary work in connection with the event. The Scouts have shown much enthusiasm over the affair and it promises to be most successful. It is probable that the merchants and most of the homes of the city will be solicited by the Scouts who are anxious to sell the tickets.

To Organize Drum Corps. It is possible that within a week's time the Scouts will have organized a drum corps and will be ready for their first practice. The money for the instruments has already been appropriated by the Harry L. Gifford Camp No. 23, Spanish War Veterans, from the Fourth of July fund, and sixteen Scouts, the number required for the proposed corps, have already volunteered. Captain Jacke, who will have charge of training the boys of the corps, is confident that the work will be successful.

The meeting on Wednesday of this week will be the first official gathering of the Scouts since the beginning of school. As there were many activities of importance attending this time of the year to take up the boys' attention it was thought best not to push whatever plans the commissioners have prepared. However there will be more frequent meetings now that the school work is started, and the fall and winter work will start shortly. Immediately after the concert, it is planned to begin organizing Harry societies for the coming winter. Men who will take charge of these and act as leaders are now being sought by the Scout Masters.

The Best Tenants Demand
Electric Light

Any landlord can improve his property by wiring his houses for electric light. Electrically lighted houses are always more rentable. New Edison Mazda Lamps give twice as much light as ordinary electric lamps and are strong enough for all practical purposes when given ordinary care in handling. Try them to-day.

THE MULE AND THE MAN.
The mule—he is a gentle beast,
And so is man.
He's satisfied to be the least;
And so is man.
Like man, he may be taught some tricks;
He does his work from 8 to 6;
The mule—when he gets mad, he kicks;
And so does man.

The mule—he has a load to pull;
And so is man.
He's happiest when he is full;
And so is man.
Like man, he holds a patient pose,
And when his work is done will rejoice;
The mule—he likes to hear his voice;
And so does man.

The mule—he has his faults, 'tis true;
And so is man.
He does some things he should not do;
And so does man.
Like man, he doesn't yearn for style,
But wants contentment all the while;
The mule—he has a lovely smile;
And so has man.

The mule is sometimes kind and good;
And so is man.
He eats all kinds of breakfast food;
And so does man.
Like man, he balks at gaudy dress
And all outlandish foolishness;
The mule's accused of muleishness;
And so is man.

Not a very flattering comment, but true to life. The mule and the man seem to have so many things in common, that they make a good team. There seems to be so much that is good in the mule, which has escaped observation, that he really belongs on a pedestal. His long ears and gentle voice contain now charm in the light of graphic comparison, and man, his counterpart, seems more human. If you can't be a man, all the time, it is safe to be a mule occasionally.

THE TURKO-ITALIAN WAR.
The declaration of war, on the part of Italy, has brought to an abrupt end the negotiations for peaceful settlement, and unless foreign intervention comes to the rescue, the two nations will proceed to fight it out.

The question involved is the acquisition of territory in Tripoli, on the north coast of Africa, which the Ottoman government controls as a protectorate, and which Italy needs, very much as Japan needed Manchuria.

The two nations are unevenly matched so far as naval and military equipment is concerned. Italy has a reasonably strong navy, while Turkey has but little to offer by way of resistance. Italy is also on the ground with a strong, well-organized army, backed by a nation which is enthusiastic, and while Germany and Austria are supposed to be neutral, their sympathy is naturally with the Italian forces.

Turkey, while well equipped to defend her territory at home, is to a disadvantage, and her chances for success in defending outside territory is extremely doubtful.

The Ottoman government, which has long been a menace to the nations of the old world, is really the bone of contention. Her territory has gradually diminished, and with the loss of Tripoli her power would be largely curtailed. The claim is often made that this is the great civilization, and recent history in Turkey indicates that the nation needs civilizing.

THE EXTRA ASSESSMENT.

The much discussed extra assessment has materialized and the taxpayers of the city will soon be in the hands of a board of assessors composed of men who have no personal interest in Janesville, except to discover how justice may best be served in dealing with all classes of property.

The personnel of this board is of the highest order. The men are men of experience, in this line of work, and the conditions to be met in Janesville are similar to conditions which they have met time and again. They should be met by the people in a spirit of fairness, and the fact should not be overlooked, that they are not influenced by prejudice.

The Tax Commission rendered its decision after careful investigation, and can not be accused of hasty action. The open court, held in the city some two weeks ago, disclosed the fact that long continued custom had led the manufacturers to believe that they were entitled to a lower assessment than other kinds of property, and while much can be said in defense of this custom, the law recognizes no distinction, and the commission is the exponent of law.

It might be helpful to remember that two classes of property, real estate, and the railroads, are taxed to the limit, and the railroads especially are clamoring for more equitable taxation.

The assets of industries contain so much that is intangible, and of uncertain value because of rapid depreciation, that it is always difficult to determine what is just and equitable. This is always a perplexing problem to men who own the property.

The factory building, when in use, may be worth what it cost, but when idle for any length of time, its value becomes insignificant, and idle machinery depreciates still more rapidly.

The victory won by Mr. Maxfield, in securing an extra assessment, is a cheap victory, and suggests that a law which permits a single citizen to embarrass a city, by complaint, should be abolished.

The initiative, the referendum, and the recall, in the hands of one man, is an object lesson in representative government, which should cause the average taxpayer to sit up and take notice. Great is reform.

The Austin, Pennsylvania, flood, which struck the little city like a cyclone, Saturday afternoon, carrying death and destruction on its tide and leaving desolation in its wake, is another tragedy for which human frailty is responsible. The insecure dam, across the valley above the town, was the cause of the disaster. The Paper Mills company, which owned the property, believed the dam to be safe, but it was not, and somebody made a mistake. The verdict of public opinion will be charitable, while free to censure carelessness.

While President Taft is swinging round the circle explaining and defending his attitude, and the policy of his administration, Senator La Follette is busily engaged in sawing wood at the national capital. The president admits that he is not a politician, a fact which his friends long since discovered. The senator has no apologies to offer, along this line, and none are needed, for he is a thoroughbred as an organizer and leader.

The Rev. Daniel Woodward, a Methodist preacher, who retired from his church at Oniro, because of too much activity in supporting an anti-option candidate for governor, will be rewarded by an appointment as warden of the state prison at Waupun. Mr. Woodward is now a member of the States Board of Control, and has filled the position of warden for the past three months.

It is reported that some 80,000 men have been laid off by the railroads, during the past six months, and that applications are numerous to fill the places of strikers on the Harriman and Illinois Central lines. It is poor time to strike in the face of an era of depression, such as now confronts the country, for the chances are more than even that before the year rolls round, that work and not wages will be the most serious problem.

The long talked of investigation of Senator Stephenson is about to materialize. It is to be hoped that the investigators will go back far enough to tell what he knows about campaign expenses when he was footing most of the bills. His friends have the satisfaction of knowing that he always spent his own money, and paid his bills on the dollar.

It is gratifying to know that late reports from the Pennsylvania flood disaster are not so bad as at first supposed. A census of the living will be necessary to determine just what the loss of life was, but it will probably not exceed 300.

SPEED.
A man am like an automobile. Remembers it quite a good deal. Dares some friends to speed who try.

To make do hill of life on high. Can't bar to see no one go past. They tries to make the grade too fast.

Before they gets up to do top. Most generally they has to stop. Because, beyond do slightest doubt, they has don't wo' dere engines out. An' when do engine, it done quit. But always am do end of it.

Some tries do intermit speed. They hasn't got quite so much greed. But still they somehow likes to spin as rapid as day safely kin. An' when they tuckles dat ole hill, they ain't exactly standin' still. Some of dere fellows reach do brow, but generally it seems as how they done has nearly always got to stop and tinker up a lot.

An' while to "cuperate" dey try. A lot of slower folks go by.

Some is contented to go slow. An' strike do hill of life on "low." They aparo dere engines on do climb. An' know derey shod' get dere in time.

Because, each livin' mortal hour, dey savin up a lot of power. They keeps a-pluggin' right along. An' am do ones what finish strong. When dey gets up to do plateau, they got enough power to go along do road of life so fast. Dere ain't nobody what gets past.

FROM THE HICKSVILLE CLARION.

A great many persons have bragged that they have made their fortunes with their hands. There is nothing particularly unique about this. William Whipple, the popular and congenial grocerman of our own, made his fortune with his hands, and he is proud of it. He has weighed at least one of his hands with every pound of sugar, coffee or cheese that he has sold during the last twenty years.

John Jones, proprietor of the Nuttall Hicksville, is quite stylish nowadays. He has got some fancy bills of fare which he sent to New York for, and nobody kin read 'em. No matter what you order, you get roast beef and brown gravy or roast pork and apple sauce just the same.

OUR EXCUSE CLUB.

The following excuse, having been duly adopted by the board of directors of the Excuse Club, is hereby given to the members for their exclusive use: No. 1580.—Yes, my dear, last night I left the office at six o'clock and went home. I met Mr. Brown, who was driving his new roadster, and he said he would drive me home. Of course, I didn't know it was a runaway horse or I would never have gotten into the buggy. We had got almost home when the horse took fright at a passing automobile and ran away. We went right by this house like a flash—so fast, no doubt, that you didn't see us at all—and before we knew it we were nine miles out in the country. I never saw a horse make the time that horse did. We were going through one of the townships, I forgot which one it was now, when the horse was taken sick and lay right down in the road. It was a valuable animal and it was a shame to see him suffer. I think it was the sleeping sickness. I hurried to Dr. Conting, only a few miles distant, to summon a veterinarian. I found that the veterinarian was playing for a dance over at Caledonia, and I set out on foot for Caledonia, reaching there shortly before midnight. The horse doctor refused to leave his job as fiddler until I got somebody to take his place. At two o'clock in the morning I woke up a fiddler in a farm house about six miles from Caledonia, took him to the dance and then took the horse home. I found that the horse had been sick. I found that the horse had recovered and my friend Brown had driven back to town. I had to walk in, and it was nearly 4 o'clock when I got home. Ho, hum.

ONE SOURLY SOLEMN THOUGHT.

I care not how the blades sing
Their charming farewell summer lays.
I cannot say I'm crazy o'er
The beauty of autumn days.
I care not how the leaves may turn
From boueous green to burnished gold.
I care not for the glorious skies
Of fall the poets have extolled.
There's just one thought I harbor now;
A thought that stirs my very soul,
All else grows pale beside to fact
I've got to buy my winter's coal.

ALWAYS TALKING.

"Don't you love me still, Alfred?" asked the fond little suffraget, winding her arms about her husband's neck as he sat in the Morris chair trying to read his evening paper.
"Surest thing you know," growled the husband. "You can just bet I do, but—"

"But, what?"

"But, you are never still."

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

Agnes.—Take a Japanese lantern and turn it upside down and stick a feather in it and you will have a fall hat that will be strictly up to the minute. It should come down well over the ears and conceal the countenance. By cutting small holes in the front for the eyes, the wearer will be able to see where she is going. This style of hat is called the bee-hive, because whoever buys one gets stung.

Old Sport.—We cannot decide your bet. Webster's dictionary and the Congressional Record are strangely silent concerning the identity of the party who held the tidily-winks championship in 1858. We can tell you who caught the largest trout in the Pere Marquette river in 1891, though, if you want to know.

Similarly.

Returned Traveler.—Over in Europe they serve wine like water. Alas!—That's the way they serve it here and too at our boarding house.

Did You Notice

Butler is going up again. Laying is getting higher again. Coal bills will soon be demanding attention.

Wouldn't it be wise to try and save on family expenses by consulting me for your Dental Work? Especially in view of the fact that

No Dental in this city is doing finer or better work.

No matter what his prices may be, high prices do not necessarily mean better work in the Dental profession.

READJUSTMENT WILL BEGIN VERY SHORTLY

REPRESENTATIVES OF THE STATE TAX COMMISSION TO HANDLE THE WORK.

MUST AID ASSESSORS

Citizens Can Lessen Expense and Make Reassessment Work Easier by Aiding the New Assessors.

As a result of the order of the state tax commission for the re-assessment of the city by men appointed by the commission, the work will begin very shortly. It is unfortunate that Janesville is to be subjected to this annoyance as the result of the ill advised action of an individual but now the decision is made it is up to the citizens to do all they can to aid the new assessors.

County Supervisor of Assessments Frank P. Starr made the following statement on the subject this morning:

"The parties selected to make the re-assessment of the property of the city of Janesville will soon begin the labor of the work will be under the direction of Tax Commissioner H. V. Cowles, a man most thoroughly fitted by education and experience for the task.

"He will be assisted by D. M. Shea, supervisor of assessment of Winnebago county, and J. E. Dalton, supervisor of assessment of Kosciusko county. Both gentlemen are especially fitted for the work by practical experience and sound judgment.

"We may rest assured that the parties who will be engaged in the re-assessment will be stimulated by a high sense of duty to endeavor to make an efficient, equal and uniform assessment of all kinds and classes of property.

"No taxpayer should harbor any ill feeling against the gentlemen whose business it will be to re-assess the property of our city; bear in mind that they were not the instigators of the re-assessment. Let us as citizens and taxpayers aid the parties who will be engaged in the re-assessment in every possible way, being open, fair and just in giving information when solicited and in making statements of personal property.

"If any man should be treated, but we will also aid in making an assessment that will come as near as possible to being based on justice, equality and uniformity."

"The cost of this re-assessment will have to be paid by the citizens generally. The law on this matter briefly stated is as follows:

"The person or persons appointed to make the re-assessment of all property in the city and the taxable property in the city and have the same power and authority as the local assessors and have access to all public records and files, also have custody and possession of the original assessment roll. The county clerk on application of the supervisor of assessment will furnish new assessment rolls and all necessary blanks.

"The tax commission will designate three persons to serve as a board for the correction and review of such re-assessment. The city clerk will act as clerk of the board, but has no voice in the determinations of the board.

"The supervisor of assessment shall render what assistance he practically can to the persons making the re-assessment and shall attend the board of review.

"The district attorney is required to render any legal assistance which may be required in regard to the assessment or review upon the request of the supervisor of assessment.

"The persons making the re-assessment or serving upon the board of review, shall receive for their service and expense not to exceed five dollars per day.

"The expense of the re-assessment will be paid by the state, and be a special charge against the City of Janesville and collected in the next levy of state taxes."

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Burgess are expected to return to Chicago where they will stay for several months.

The National Fraternal League will meet at the Caledonian rooms the first and third Thursday of each month.

ORDERS ISSUED FOR HARVESTING CROPS FOR BEET FACTORY

Rock County Sugar Company Has Seven Thousand Acres Under Contract This Year.

Orders were issued this morning to all sugar beet growers to begin harvesting their beet crop as soon as possible. The company has some seven thousand acres of beets under contract this year, the largest amount ever grown for the local factory and it means the factory will start running about the 15th of the present month and continue until the middle of February.

Roughly figuring at the proportion of twelve tons to an acre, the usual minimum, it will mean some eighty-four thousand tons of beets are to be sliced and made into sugar this year with the prospects the beets will run much higher in percentage to the acre than the twelve tons figured.

The starting of this week, when ordered, will mean that in ten days enough beets will be in the bins to start the factory working full force which will give steady employment for the next four months to a large force of men. The machinery has all been gone over during the summer, new equipment added and all is in readiness for the harvest.

COUNTY POLL LISTS REQUESTED OF CLERK

Secretary of State Asks for Names and Addresses of All Voters in County.

Desiring to comply with the terms of the law passed at the last session of the legislature requiring the filing with the Secretary of State of the names and addresses of all voters in the various towns, cities and villages in the state, Secretary of State Fear has sent letters to the county clerks of the state asking if it could be possible for them to supply him with these poll lists before the next general election in 1912.

County Clerk Lee, in reply to this communication, stated that he could not supply the lists for the townships, but if the secretary of state desired, he would be able to send the lists for the cities and villages where the registration lists were kept.

The purpose of the law, as passed, is to enable the various candidates under the primary plan to submit their credentials to the voters of the state, at a minimum cost which will be paid by the state. It is expected that this will eliminate the corruption which was experienced in former days under the old system, and at the same time each candidate will be given a square deal.

All literature will be sent out from the office of the Secretary of State where short biographies will be received from the various aspirants for office. These will be re-modeled, if necessary, in order to give the facts in the history of the man and will be sent to the voters unbiassed by personal esteem.

In the opinion of the attorney general it was possible to proceed with this plan at the coming general election providing the poll lists could be secured from the county clerks at present. However, there has been no record kept in the townships of the voters as this has never been required previously.

LUBY COMPANY HAD THE BEST BARGAIN

D. J. Luby & Co. Awarded First Place in Best Bargain Offers in Last Monday's Gazette.

In last week's Best Bargain page in The Gazette, D. J. Luby and company were awarded first place as having offered the most appealing value. Their offer consisted of "Misses' and Children's straight line and blazer cut shoes in patent, gun metals, vici kid; all sizes and suitable for school wear, at 25 cents. They sold regularly at from $1.50 to $2.25.

The committee who made the award consisted of three ladies from the Philanthropic committee of the Household Economic club. In the opinion of the ladies on the committee, the shoes were articles of the greatest amount of service to the greatest number of people, and at a sacrifice price that was ahead of all the rest.

The huge, unmet, was full of other appealing offers and it proved no easy task for the committee to pick what they considered the winner.

Those who will constitute the committee for tomorrow will be three ladies from the Woman's Relief Corps.

POSTPONE MEMORIAL ADDRESS IN HONOR OF HON. WM. SMITH

Hon. George R. Peck of Chicago Unable to Be Present Today, Address to County Bar Postponed Until November 6.

Owing to the fact that Hon. George R. Peck, who has been secured to deliver the memorial address to the County Bar Association in honor of the late Hon. William Smith, was unable to be present today on account of business engagements, the meeting which was scheduled for today, to follow the opening of the fall term of the circuit court, has been postponed until November 6th.

The time for the meeting was definitely named before calling the jury by Judge Grinn today for the day. This will allow the committee on resolutions on the death of Hon. Ogden H. Peck to prepare their articles for presentation at this time, thus making the meeting the occasion for a memorial tribute to two of the city's most beloved and prominent attorneys.

GRIND USUAL GRIST OF MONDAY DRUNKS

Repeaters Among D. and D's. Arraigned Before Judge Fifield in Municipal Court This Morning.

Joe Novelli and Charles Collins, old offenders, and Frank Laskowski, also a "repeater," were among the week-end and Sunday drunkards arraigned before Judge Fifield this morning.

Charles Collins was sentenced to five days in jail in spite of his promise to take the pledge and stay sober. Collins has made such promises before, but has never kept them.

Joe Novelli, a former living on the other side of Emerald Grove, was given twenty minutes to get out of town and drive home. The case against him was adjourned for a week, and will not be presented if he behaves himself. Frank Laskowski, a drayman, was fined $2 and costs and given until the afternoon to get the money. Dan Reigan, a sugar factory employe was fined $1 and costs.

BOWLING SEASON OPENS NEXT WEEK

Match Games Will Be Played Next Week—Names of and Members of Teams.

On next Monday night at the alleys of Leffingwell & Hockett, on 13 N. Main, will commence the first match games of the season between the different teams of this city. The season looks promising and the participants for honors in all the teams are practicing as much as possible and by Monday night they expect to show great form. In spite of the fact that these will be the first games of the season, after the next Monday night the teams will meet almost every Monday, Tuesday and Friday nights and it is expected that some hard fought games will be seen there this winter.

The teams have been practicing for some little time and have at last chosen the members of their teams as well as the names that they will be known by this season. There will be six different teams to compete. Below is given the names of the teams and the players on each:

Reds: composed of Sutherland, Gaell, Craft, Wilson and Buchholz. Browns: composed of Parker, G. Baumann, Wolcott, Miller and Fox. Carlinis: composed of Gibson, E. Baumann, W. Tolsa, Thayer and Kines. Greys: composed of Cook, Galsler, F. Gridley, Madden and Rendell. Maroons: composed of Hockett, Osborn, G. Kueck.

Read Why

We are publishing this extraordinary page of specials

This paper has been studying for some time past the relative importance, interest and appeal the "advertising" of a modern paper should bear to the other "news" set forth in its columns.

(The result is staggering to the reportorial and editorial pride.)

It has forcibly come to us that, what interests the world most today and has most interested them since the world began, is summed up in—

WHAT TO EAT—WHAT TO WEAR—WHAT TO HAVE IN THE HOME—HOW TO BEST SPEND MONEY TO PROMOTE THE MOST PLEASURE AND HAPPINESS AND COMFORT.

Compared with these great points which vitally concern humanity, the lesser happenings of life are but incidents.

And the person best qualified to interest the people of this city in these matters of most moment are by all means the merchants—the men who are in touch with the world's markets—who know what is being done in the new discoveries and origination of merchandise and food stuffs, to raise standards of living or change modes and styles.

Do the people of this city really appreciate this great truth? Do the merchants appreciate it themselves, is a question this paper has been asking itself and also the question—

HOW CAN THIS PAPER HELP bring a closer confidence and sense of mutual understanding and benefit between advertiser and the public?

In answer to this question THIS PAPER HAS SET ASIDE THIS SPACE for one day each week and has asked the merchants of this city to contribute

(What in their opinion will be their (one) most appealing bargain.)

Moreover, we mean to devote this space one day each week to announcing these "best" bargains. We also mean to protect our merchants and our readers in the sincerity of all offerings, and so we will appoint a competent shopping committee to each week inspect all "best" bargain offerings and decide which is the ONE BEST BARGAIN OF ALL the decision of the committee to be published in the aid of the week following the insertion of the "best bargain."

42 Merchants Have Responded— some with price cuts, some with "new arrivals," some with style novelties, some with unique originations, some with offerings possessing more than ordinary appeal to eye, palate, or ear.

This Ad is Bound to Contain many things to interest and appeal to every reader of this paper—many needed items at a big saving, many wanted things, many new suggestions; and so, even if you haven't a need, desire or wish unfilled at the present time, the reading of this ad and the succeeding ads will be well worth your while in developing your discernment, just for the interest and satisfaction of determining in advance in your own mind the "bargain" which the committee will select as "best," your faculty for picking out real bargains when you see them and also because these announcements from every point of view are bound to make

The most interesting reading of any page in today's paper

D. J. LUBY & CO.

With their offering of misses' and children's school shoes priced special at 95c were awarded the honor of having the one Best Bargain by the committee of three ladies from the Philanthropic committee of the Club of Household Economics last week. The regular values were $1.50, $1.75, $2.00 and $2.25 and the article constituted a very fine bargain.

Was this the bargain you decided was best last week?

Did you read and respond to that bargain page—you certainly missed the most interesting reading in the paper if you happened to overlook it—But here is another—just as brimful of interest to you—read every special—perhaps the very item you need most is set forth here the most extraordinary offering on the page.

The judges this week are members of the Women's Relief Corps.

Helps for the Christmas List.

A LREADY Christmas gift lists are being made, and brows are being puckered over the problem of what to send. Despite the fact that shops overflow with all sorts of delightful things for giving, the problem of how to fit the gift, the person, and one's purse together satisfactorily is no easy one.

If you have a nature-lover on your list, or a friend who lives in the suburbs or the country, there are some gifts that seem especially adapted to them. The woman who is fond of flowers would be delighted to receive a collection of fine bulbs. Bulbs are, in a way, a luxury; and many a woman has longings for certain fine kinds for her flower-beds, but feels she cannot afford them. What then would be her delight Christmas morning, to find those bulbs all wrapped in snowy tissue paper, and packed in a Christmas box, among her packages?

It is a gift that is growing more and more popular, as the seed-people will tell you. Where aforerime, plants were sent to the woman who delights in her garden, now, bulbs are being chosen.

The Dutch bulbs are now on sale in the seed stores, and they will keep until Christmas without planting. The person who receives them should, however, plant them in glasses or pots, and they will be ready for blooming in the open ground, just as soon as spring appears.

Even the woman who has no garden will appreciate the gift of a beautiful plant. Particularly will it be welcome if she boards or lives in a few rooms, for a spot of green and bloom in a room is a wonderfully refreshing and satisfying.

Artistic jardinières and urns and flower-holders are also always acceptable to the flower-lover. And these things in the shops grow lovelier every year, so that one does not find choosing difficult.

The Chinese lily and the paper-white narcissus bulbs for indoor planting in water are delightful gifts, especially for the shut-in. Their bloom and fragrance are delicious, and the one confined to an invalid's chair or couch finds much pleasure in watching the flower's unfolding.

There are many books that the man or woman who delights in country life will enjoy. Chief among these are the two delightful volumes of David Grayson, "Adventures in Contentment" and "Adventures in Friendship." Few books will give more pleasure to the one who is sensitive to the subtle joys of the country.

Mrs. Ely's Hardy Garden books will be a welcome gift to the woman with a garden; and Mrs. Dana's "How to Know Wild Flowers" will be a treasure to the one fond of rambles and wayside blooms.

The more practical country friend may appreciate Fernow's "Care of Trees," or Goodrich's "The First Year of Farming," both of which give decidedly practical help upon the subject treated.

Indeed, a little time spent over book catalogues or in the book departments of any of the stores will suggest most welcome gifts for the lover of the outdoor life.

Barbara Boyd

The KITCHEN CABINET

It is excellent to have a giant's strength; but to use it like a giant. —Shakespeare.

DISHS NEW OR UNUSUAL.

We are constantly looking for new dishes to vary the monotony of our diet. The following are some that will appeal to the tastes of some.

A former's Dainty Dish.—The size of the pot will depend upon the size of the family and its appetite. Peel and slice five potatoes and one small onion; take half a pound of sweet salt pork, cut in thin slices, a pound of veal or beef cut in small pieces; short on some bread dough and line the bottom of a greased stew pan, put in a few slices of pork, then a layer of meat, potatoes and onion; dust with pepper and salt and cover with a layer of bread dough. Repeat until the dish is full; finish with a crust on top and pour over sufficient boiling water to cover. Cook at the simmering temperature until the vegetables are soft.

The season for venison will soon be here. Just try this when you are fortunate enough to have a steak: Rub the steak with a little butter, and lay it in a hot pan; when cooked on one side turn it over and add a tablespoonful of orange juice and two of currant jelly. Simmer gently for about twelve minutes. Season with salt and pepper and serve.

This is a nice dish for a chafing dish party and can be easily prepared at the table.

Rabbit With Herbs.—Cut a rabbit in pieces and place it in a stew pan with butter, parsley, chives, mushrooms, bayleaf and thyme chopped fine. Add sufficient water to cook, and simmer until the rabbit is tender. When ready to serve add a spoonful of flour to the gravy to thicken it.

Wild duck are delicious roasted without stuffing, using instead a bunch of celery in each bird. Do not serve the celery.

Will duck is better served a little more underdone than tame duck.

Oxtail Soup.—Take two tails and put into a kettle with a gallon of water and a little salt. When the meat is well cooked take out the bones, add onion, carrot and tomatoes and boil an hour longer.

CURIOUS BITS OF HISTORY

THE EARLIEST AMERICAN COLLEGE.

By A. W. MACY.

In 1616 the King of England ordered the bishop of London to collect money for a college to be founded in Virginia, and during the next three years a sum equal to $7,300 was raised and sent over for that purpose. In 1618 it was ordained that the college should be located at Henrico, and 10,000 acres of land were allotted for its endowment. This land was to be rented to settlers. One-tenth of the income was to be used in educating Indians, and nine-tenths in educating English children. The London company donated a small sum for a building and a few books to start a library. A good attendance was assured, for 1,261 children were sent over from London to be educated in the new college. It was also decided to establish a preparatory school at Charles City. But before either institution got under way the terrible Indian massacre of 1622 took place, in which one-twelfth of all the English settlers in Virginia were killed. This put an end to all thoughts except of personal safety, and it is doubtful whether any actual instruction was ever given in this earliest (prospective) American college.

FOODS TO AVOID IN CATARRH.

The foods that tend most to produce catarrh are cane sugar, cooked cereals, fine white bread, rice and whole wheat bread. Apples tend to correct the catarrhal condition. One who is especially predisposed to catarrh should avoid the foods named as favoring catarrh and eat an apple daily. It is also beneficial in many cases to drink a pint or more of hot water in the morning, which should be followed by a brisk walk and no food eaten for an hour or more after.

SOUPS AND DESSERTS

RECIPES FOR THE BEGINNING AND END OF THE MEAL.

How to Make Delicious Chicken Gumbo—Steamed Apples Are Good—Charlotte Russe, "Chess" Pie and Stillbub.

Chicken Gumbo.—Melt three heaping tablespoonfuls of lard, when smoking hot stir into it three tablespoonfuls of browned flour, stirring constantly till thoroughly smooth; in this place one fat hen or capon cut up as for frying; brown on both sides and pour upon it one gallon of boiling water; add two tablespoonfuls of salt, a little cayenne and a dozen pods of okra chopped or sliced; boil slowly till fowl is thoroughly tender. Just before serving drop into the hot soup three dozen oysters, removing from fire as soon as they crinkle. Boil one tea cup of rice, without stirring, until tender and dry; put two spoonfuls of rice in each plate and pour on this a portion of the gumbo with chicken and oysters.

Steamed Apples.—Lard, half and core six good cooking apples; place in saucepan, setting pairs together; pour in pan half tencup of cold water, cover tightly and place over moderate fire. The steam will cook them quickly. When thoroughly tender put into the opening at core of each pair one dessert spoon of powdered sugar, lump of butter size of filbert; cover again for this to melt; then pour over all a glass of sherry. Serve with whipped cream.

Charlotte Russe.—Beat together till light and fluffy the yolks of six eggs with one tencup of white sugar; whip one pint of sweet cream; beat to a froth the whites of eggs, stir both into yolks and sugar; flavor to taste; dissolve half a box of gelatine in half a tencup of boiling water and pour into above, stirring constantly. Line a large mold with lady fingers and pour into it the mixture; place in refrigerator to set. Serve in fluted paper cups.

"Chess" Pie.—Six eggs beaten separately, one of sweet cream, lump of butter size of walnut and one tencup of blackberry jam; stir in the whites of eggs beaten to froth; bake in a flaky paste till set. (Three full pies.)

Stillbub.—Whip half a pint of sweet cream, sweeten with a half a tencup of powdered sugar; flavor with one tencup of vanilla; stir in slowly one pint of sherry; the juice of six oranges, one tencup of grated pineapple and three tablespoonfuls of apricot brandy. Serve in cups with fruit cake.

Aid for the Invalid.

A stick of the right sort will help an invalid in many ways. It should be strong, yet light, with a stout iron hook on one end and a knob on the other. This will enable an invalid to adjust curtains, raise and lower shades and windows, push her rolling chair or move a screen, and aid herself in a variety of other ways.

Goes Farther, Costs Less, than Soap

For general household cleaning, soap in powder form is more economical and efficient than in the bar. Gold Dust, one of the first powders—and still the best—can be used more economically than soap, because the quantity desired can be measured out and no more used. In using soap in the cake there is waste, more being used than is really needed; the rest of the cake is water-soaked, causing the soap to lose its goodness. Moreover, Gold Dust contains other ingredients, which soften the hardest water and allow the soap to do its work with little rubbing.

SILVER CLEANING PAN

Tableware is Quickly Brightened When Soaked in Solution.

Every housekeeper knows how much work is entailed in keeping silver clean. Furthermore, that this work must be done frequently as the ware tarnishes even when stored away. A device has been invented by which the cleaning can be done in a fraction of the time heretofore required, and without any scouring with powders or pastes. A metal pan, with a grating just above the bottom, is partly filled with a solution of warm water and a tablespoonful each of common salt and baking soda. The pan is made of a material which will not corrode from the action of these substances in the water but this same action will remove the tarnish from silver in a few minutes. The tableware is placed on the grating in the pan and allowed to remain there for from one to two minutes, if warm water is used, and from five to ten minutes if the water is cold. It is then removed and wiped dry, leaving it as bright as new.

* HAVEN HOURS OF RUBBING

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

SOME topic of sex came up the other day, and a young engaged girl declined to let her fiancé's views on the subject.

A sweet little old lady leaned forward and listened most intently to the young girl's words, and when she had finished, cried out in evident wonder: "But you don't really mean you talked over all that with him."

"Why, yes," said the girl. "We feel that it is false modesty to be afraid of talking about such real vital things, and so if they happen to come up, we aren't afraid to speak out. Of course, we always talk about them in a perfectly nice way."

The little old lady shook her head. "Of course, it's all right, my dear, or I know you wouldn't do it, but I'm sure you never did. Why, just imagine John's telling me about—about—the old lady's lips refused to name the subject—about things like that," she finished, "before we were married. Well, well, I suppose times have changed."

It was twilight, but even in the semi-darkness I could see that the little old lady was blushing.

Times have changed in this particular. The pendulum has swung from the extreme of an ultra-modesty that attempted to ignore the existence of sex, and that fled from any frank speech on that subject as from a plague and that either produced or assumed a ridiculous ignorance of vital things, instead of a fine, fearless innocence.

And this, I think, is very, very good. But like all pendulums, I am afraid this one is inclined to swing too far the other way.

The girl of today is very anxious not to be a prude. I wonder if in her anxiety to stand erect instead of with the drooping posture of her grandmother's day, she does not sometimes bend too far backward.

She wants to be sensibly frank. Isn't she sometimes foolishly so?

She thinks she talks of all the same matters merely to be sensible, and to show that she is not afraid to call a spade a spade.

But I wonder does no other motive ever creep in? Does the excitement, the intimacy, the thrill of venturing on the forbidden round hand-in-hand with him have nothing to do with her desire to be frank?

Understand me, I do not mean that this is a deliberate conscious motive. Rather one of those deeply hidden springs of action whose presence can only be revealed even to ourselves by a trip to the bottom of our hearts.

Indeed, I do not mean to be harsh nor to impugn your modesty, dear, honest, frank, little girl of the twentieth century.

I hate prudishness as much as you do. But I want you to stand on this matter neither drooping forward nor bending ungracefully backward, but finely and splendidly erect. So you will try to be sure you are doing that, won't you?

PRESBYTERIANS TO HOLD STATE SYNOD IN THIS CITY SOON

ABOUT TWO HUNDRED DELEGATES EXPECTED FOR ANNUAL GATHERING HERE OCTOBER 10-12.

PROMINENT SPEAKERS

From Larger Cities in State and Nation Are Scheduled to Appear on the Program Which Will be Most Interesting.

Judging from the topics which appear on the program, and the prominent Presbyterian divines from all over the state and nation who will be present, the annual Wisconsin Synod of the Presbyterian church to be held here October 10, 11 and 12, promises to be a conference of exceptional interest.

It is estimated that about two hundred delegates and guests will be in the city on these days, and will be entertained by the members of the First Presbyterian church of this city. Following the meeting of the Synod of this state here this week, and with the Synod next week, Janesville will be the gathering point for a large number of clergymen and prominent laymen.

Among the speakers of prominence at the Synod will be: Rev. W. O. Carver, Carroll College; Dr. Shaler Matthews, Chicago, who will speak Tuesday evening; Rev. Robert S. Donaldson, Milwaukee, who will speak on "Men and Religion" Wednesday afternoon at 4:30; Rev. Owen Davies Odell, Indianapolis, Ind., who will give address Wednesday evening; Rev. Arthur J. Brown, secretary of Board of Foreign Missions, New York City, who appears on the program Thursday morning and evening; Rev. John Wilson Cochran, Philadelphia, also speaking Thursday morning and evening; and other members of the Presbyterian clergy of the state. Rev. J. W. Laughlin of the Janesville church will speak Thursday morning on the topic of Foreign Missions. The convention program will be as follows:

OUR AMBASSADORSHIP SUBJECT OF SERMON

WE ARE TO EXECUTE IN THIS WORLD POSITION OF AMBASSADORS.

WORK OF A MINISTER

Text Taken From Paul's Epistles to the Corinthians Gives Epitome of Our Present Day Duty.

Rev. T. D. Williams gave an excellent sermon yesterday at the Methodist church on "The Conference Year; the Pastor's Work." He took his text from the passage, "We pray you in Christ's name be yet reconciled to God." Evidently we are to execute in this world the position of ambassadors. An ambassador represents one sovereign to another and the interests of one ruler to those of another. The greatest ambassador who ever came to this earth was Jesus Christ, who represented God in all His power and glory. Christ's apostles and their successors were and are ambassadors whose duty it is to represent Him.

A great many people hold erroneous opinions of the necessity of the minister today and of his duties and usefulness. Often we hear people say that the printed page has superseded the minister and that printed sermons are taking the minister's place in spreading the gospel. This idea often includes the entire force of church workers who are attempting to teach the gospel of Jesus Christ by word of mouth. But according to statistics of Dr. Jeffers, there has never been a greater demand for ministers than today.

This infection and meaning given to the gospel by the human tongue is one of the greatest factors in its spread and it is the personal element in the work of a minister that makes them appeal to the sense of people and not the words alone. Christ's words will live forever on the printed page, but what added meaning they have and what new interest they receive in us when we hear them from human lips as did the men of ancient times. Christ said to his disciples, "As ye go, preach."

Now the requirements for a minister should be considered and in the first place comes his equipment. He must have the capacity to express his thoughts in language easily understood by the people to whom he is talking, whatever their nationality or intelligence. Christ used the words of the people who were unable to understand His teachings otherwise.

Next comes the work of a minister. This is usually to plead with men in Christ's name to be reconciled to God. Adam, by his evil act, brought about the fall of man and made a breach in the relations between God and man. Ever since that time the ministry of reconciliation has been necessary and men have striven to bring sinners back into the proper relations with God. There are at present about one third of the population of the world Christians, and only about one fifth of the people in the United States are members of churches of any description. The crime and vice of the cities are contaminating the country and the great evils which are destroying the people are so abundant that it seems folly to attempt opposition. A minister's work is unlimited.

In the second place the work of a minister is to persuade men to be reconciled to God's plan of salvation. Christ's one idea was to bring human hearts into harmony with the will of the Father. Beside this they must preach reconciliation to God's plan of human conduct. The passage from the Bible, "Thy word is a light to my feet and a lamp in my path," is the epitome of His will in this regard. The trouble with the world today is not too much pleasure, but a lost sense of God. One of the great men of the times says that the world could not last two hundred years without a personal consciousness of God.

Ministers of the gospel are engaged in the greatest field in the world and the great men of all ages have felt it and have been willing to devote their lives to the work.

Our ministry in this day and age is to be the ambassadors from God to sinners who are not in the proper relation with Him.

A Mariner at Fifteen.

John Dudley Hall, a fifteen-year-old Pinora (Ga.) high school boy, wandered into New York police headquarters looking for shelter. Since June 2 he worked his way to Savannah, Ga., where he was employed by a ship's master. He had a letter from Daniel Swenson, assistant superintendent of the Savannah Port society, stating that the boy had had his parents' consent to travel, to ship as seaman, or to go sailing in any other capacity on a ship's master might wish. Hall said he was hungry, having been in New York several days, spent all his money and could not find work. He was sent to the Children's society.

UNCLE WALT The Poet Philosopher

Copyright, 1909, by George Matthew Adams
BY WALT MASON

I've always sought the silver lining when'er a cloud appeared; no foolish tears of vain repining have trickled down my beard. When I encounter grief and sorrow, I say: "It cuts no grass, for things will come my way tomorrow—misfortunes always pass."

At divers times when people saw me wear a grin and sing a song, they stopped to remark and jaw me, and said: "Your head's on wrong; to go around and sing and chortle when woes are thick as rats, shows that you're dippy, foolish mortal!"

"Your heifer's full of bugs!" And still, when I saw sorrow thickening, my hopeful song was sung, and now that I am sorely stricken in years I am still young. My heart does not with age grow colder—'twas never steeped in tears and I know men who seem much older, who've lived but half my years. When'er I see a grudge I strike it and knock its features in; the more I live the more I like it—because I learned to grin. This habit's kept my life as-shining and when I come to die I still shall seek the silver lining, and find it, by and by.

NOTES FOR CITY FARMERS ONLY.

By H. L. RANN.

One of the most pathetic sights on the farm is that of a gentle work horse trying to take a cheerful view of life in the face of an improving toehold. Nine times out of ten it will be found that the animal has been shod by a cross-eyed farrier whose ancestors inoculated the noble red man with antiquated and the horse's habit. It is a lamentable fact that the average horse shod is about as cross as a cat in his work as a married fillet on a Sunday school excursion.

The blacksmith who fits a pair of No. 9 calks on a gentle roadster with a high instep, calling for a 7/8 last ought to have his eyes straightened up with a pair of brass knuckles. More racing manure have been ruined by blacksmiths whose sight is as defective as the vision of the night watch during the county fair than from running a wire nail through a new half sole. If the intellectual giant who shoes your horses is so near-sighted that he drives a nail with the accuracy of grandpa repairing the bun coat, you had better trust them to the morose of the nearest cooper, stoward or scabber.

The simplicity of man has destroyed a promising industry, that of making soft soap out of wood ashes and kum urable. This simple combination produced a soap that would eat the lining out of a copper boiler. It was chiefly used to wash out the mouths of small boys who were caught in the act of saying "kaldum it" under their breath. One application of this soap would destroy the sense of taste so that a boy couldn't tell a beet pickle from a cream puff. It was also very popular for the Saturday night bath, for a man didn't have to grope around in a cross-eyed chambermaid hanging out the wash and finally locate it behind his left ear in the south-east corner of the bath tub. It is hard to improve upon the old ways.

JUST TRY A TEN CENT BOX OF CASCARETS

Insures you for months against a Sick Headache, Biliousness, Constipation or a Bad Stomach.

Put aside—just once—the Sals, Cathartics, Pills, Castor Oils or purgative waters which merely force a passage way through the bowels, but do not thoroughly cleanse, freshen and purify these drainage or alimentary organs, and have no effect whatever upon the liver and stomach.

Keep your middle organs pure and fresh with Cascarets, which thoroughly cleanse the stomach, remove the undigested, sour and fermenting food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the decomposed waste matter and poisons in the intestines and bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will make you feel great by morning. They work while you sleep—never gripe, sicken or cause only to count a box from your drugstore. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never have Headache, Biliousness, coated tongue, indigestion, Sour Stomach or Constipated bowels. Cascarets belong in every household. Children just love to take them.

Schlitz in Brown Bottles No "Skunk" Taste

Light starts decay even in pure beer. Dark glass gives protection against light.

Schlitz is brewed in absolute cleanliness—cooled in filtered air—then it is aged for months, to prevent biliousness, then filtered through white wood pulp—then every bottle is sterilized, and delivered to you in brown bottles, thus protecting Schlitz purity from the brewery to your glass.

If you knew what we know about beer you would say "Schlitz—Schlitz in brown bottles." See that crown or cork is branded "Schlitz." Phones: 1041, 222, 1164, 1165. Jos. Schlitz Brewing Co. 614 Wall St., Janesville.

The Beer That Made Milwaukee Famous

Roasted Victim Alive. An almost unbelievably cruel happening has come to light at Hiroshima, Japan. There a man and his wife have been arrested for willfully cremating a live man. The prisoners were in charge of a crematorium, and while at work a faint voice coming out of a coffin begged for fresh air. The couple took no notice, however, and proceeded to apply fire, roasting the man alive.

Good Reasons. "Yet they say the widower, who has just got married again, was all broken up when his first wife died." "Then if he was all broken up, that was a good reason why he should be repaired."—Baltimore American.

J. Mr. Adams, who is twenty-four years old, is interested in a Philadelphia auto truck company and was in the office of the concern when the severe electric storm broke. Standing before a large mirror opposite a window on the broad street side of the building, the reflection of the vivid flash of lightning so affected his optic nerves that he fell to the floor unconscious. When he was revived it was found that the young man had lost his sight and he was rushed in an ambulance to a hospital. Later he was removed to his home in this city. ## FORTY YEARS AGO

The Janesville Daily Gazette, Monday, October 2, 1871.

The ice season closed on Saturday.

The mortality record of the city shows ten deaths during the month of September. This is a large increase on the number given by previous reports, during the year, of deaths within the city.

A haughty stop has been attached to the Congregational church organ, and as soon as some needed repairs are made to the instrument an organ concert will be given.

The primary election committee met at the agricultural rooms at the court house at nine o'clock Saturday evening, canvassed the vote and declared Alexander Graham the republican nominee for the office of assemblyman from the fifth district of Rock County.

"Poorly. I can't do the lessons they're giving them now."

Lighting Blinded Him.

With the sight of one eye totally destroyed by lightning and but little hope of saving the other, Harry Adams submitted to a delicate surgical operation at the home of his father at Atlantic City, N. J. Mr. Adams, who is twenty-four years old, is interested in a Philadelphia auto truck company and was in the office of the concern when the severe electric storm broke. Standing before a large mirror opposite a window on the broad street side of the building, the reflection of the vivid flash of lightning so affected his optic nerves that he fell to the floor unconscious. When he was revived it was found that the young man had lost his sight and he was rushed in an ambulance to a hospital. Later he was removed to his home in this city. Specialists who made the operation fear his injuries are permanent.

Useless Worrying.

An old author has remarked that there are two things which it does no good to worry about—what you can help, and what you can't help. The latter, because fretting won't help the matter; and in the former, because it is your duty to go and help it, without fretting.

TAFT IS PERILED BY A CLOUDBURST

Serious Flood in Missouri Valley
Delays the Presidential Special.

AT HAMLET FOR TEN HOURS

Roadbed in Such Bad Condition That Anxiety Felt for Safety of Train.
—Reaches Omaha Far Behind
Schedule Time.

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 2.—The train bearing President Taft arrived here 12 hours behind schedule time after a prolonged trip over flood damaged railroads.

President Taft was caught in a terrific cloudburst that broke upon Kansas, Missouri and Nebraska. For ten hours the train halted at Rushville, a hamlet of 500 people, lying out in the Kansas prairie, unable to proceed because of washouts in the track ahead.

Tracks Sink Under Taft's Car.

In making its way out of the water, covered fields the train at times had to pass over roadbed that had been hurriedly patched up by emergency workmen rushed out by the Missouri Pacific railroad. In spots the water was up to the level of the tracks and the heavy train, with President Taft's steel car at the end, sank down into the roadbed until it seemed as though the whole train would crash the tracks apart and plunge into the sea of flood.

It was a thrilling, slow journey that the president and his traveling party made along the 100 miles of inundated prairie. The president, although alive to the danger that threatened, maintained a placid calm and, as he looked over the water that at times gushed over the roadbed, remarked that traveling in the wake of a storm did have its drawbacks.

Omaha Program Abandoned.

The long program of reception which had been laid out for the president in this city and, of course, to be abandoned.

When the president found that he could not reach Omaha on schedule time he sent out telegrams from his special train calling all the engagements off.

When President Taft left Bedalia the stars were twinkling in a clear sky and there was no indication of trouble ahead. The special was made up of a powerful locomotive, a baggage car, a dining car and two apartment cars for the president's immediate party, and the president's private car.

Road Takes Extra Precautions.

It was while the special was passing through Atchison, Kan., to make the run to Omaha up the east side of the Missouri river that the cloudburst came. The train passed on through the terrific storm, but had gone only a short distance when word came back over the telegraph wires that the storm had washed out great stretches of track ahead. Leading the special, two miles ahead, was a pilot engine, with a day coach attached, and the pilot had come upon a sunken roadbed. Extra precautions had been taken by the railroad to guard against any accident to the presidential train. Besides the pilot engine, the railroad had provided track walkers to patrol the tracks at stretches of half a mile apart to see that everything was in condition for the special. It was the track walkers who communicated word of danger ahead to the telegraph operators along the line.

Mr. Taft made a speech here this morning and then proceeded on his jaunt through Nebraska, stopping off at Lincoln.

BIG DAMAGE IN PENNSYLVANIA

Cloudbursts Kill One Man and Wreck Property.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 2.—One person is known to be dead, several injured and property damaged to the extent of several hundred thousands of dollars by cloudbursts at various points throughout western Pennsylvania. The rainfall was especially severe at Butler, Sharon and Newcastles.

At Sharon, Thomas Jones and his brother John were swept from a dam into swollen Yankee Run. The former was drowned.

A Baltimore & Ohio railroad passenger train, carrying 35 passengers, stalled in six feet of water one mile north of Drury. The water extinguished the fire in the engine. The passengers were taken in boats to places of safety and the train abandoned.

PICKS WIFE FROM BIG FIELD

Illinois Farmer Has Wide Marital Choice After He Advertises.

Evansville, Ind., Oct. 2.—Henry Clay King, a farmer living near Fairfield, Ill., advertised in the newspapers for a wife and received over 500 answers. From this number he chose Miss Beale Southard of Centertown, Ky., and married her.

Boy to Own Mammoth Hotel.

New York, Oct. 2.—Within the next two weeks a fifteen-year-old boy will be owner of the Ansonia, the largest hotel in the United States. The lad thus favored of fortune is W. E. D. Stokes, Jr., to whom his father, the present owner, proposes to turn over the property. The hotel cost $5,000,000.

Always Somewhere Near.

Misery never had to look far for the company that it loves.

REVOLT IS ON IN PORTUGAL

Royalist Leaders in Plot at Lisbon Are Captured.

Lisbon, via the frontier, Oct. 2.—The revolt in the north is considered very serious. The chief of police received an anonymous letter that a royalist revolution would break out.

The plan embodied an attack upon all the military barracks, where the royalists counted upon adherents who would assist them in massacring the troops faithful to the republic.

All the troops were called out under their officers and a general attack was made upon various residences suspected of harboring royalists. The plotters were surprised and promptly attempted to make their escape over the roofs of houses. They were perceived by the troops, who fired numerous volleys. Many of the royalists were arrested. They were armed with revolvers, daggers and rifles. A large quantity of arms and ammunition was seized.

MANY FLOCK TO DRAW LAND

Government's Lottery in South Dakota Attracts Thousands.

Dallas, S. D., Oct. 2.—Record crowds were present in Dallas and in the neighboring City of Gregory today, the opening day in the government land lottery. Nearly half a million acres of farm land in the Pine Ridge and Rosebud Indian reservations are to be opened for settlement. Upward of 100,000 persons are expected to take part in the drawing for the 5,000 homesteads into which the newly opened land will be cut up.

Dallas, Gregory and Rapid City, S. D., have been designated as registration points, the dates for registration being from October 2 to October 21. The drawing will take place at Gregory, beginning at 10 a. m. October 24.

MASONS GIVEN BIG LEGACY

Order is Left $100,000 by Medford, Mass., Man.

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 2.—Masonic organizations are beneficiaries to the extent of $100,000 under the will of the late Samuel C. Lawrence of Medford, Mass. Other institutions receive large sums; also, the total amount given to all organizations reaching $230,000.

The principal Masonic bequests are $50,000 to the Masonic educational and charitable trust and $25,000 to various Masonic lodges, including $5,000 to the Lawrence chapter of Worcester.

WOMEN DIE IN TAXI CRASH

Train Strikes Vehicle and Mother and Daughter Are Killed.

Freeport, N. Y., Oct. 2.—Mrs. R. J. Darnell of Memphis, Tenn., and her daughter, Beatrice, aged twenty, were instantly killed, another daughter, Pauline, aged seventeen, was probably fatally injured, and William C. Collier, formerly of Memphis, and John Mott, a chauffeur, were seriously hurt, when a taxicab which was taking them to Freeport station was run down by a Long Island train last night.

ST. JOSEPH STORM DAMAGED

Many Persons in Missouri City Flee From Raging Water.

St. Joseph, Mo., Oct. 2.—St. Joseph experienced what was perhaps the worst storm in its history early today, when six inches of rain fell, accompanied by a terrific thunder and lightning storm.

One man, Riley Helms, is missing; hundreds of persons are homeless, and property damage to the amount of $30,000 has been done.

The extreme southern portion of the city, near the packing house, sustained the greatest damage, when Brown's creek overflowed its banks. Residents near by were forced to flee for safety. Many persons were rescued by men in boats and on rafts.

PASS DIRECT PRIMARY BILL

Lower House Sends Ferris Measure to New York Senate.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 2.—Concluding one of the stormiest sessions they have ever held, members of the assembly passed the Ferris direct nominations bill by a vote of 111 to 39. Then both houses instead of adjourning since the bill had been passed, declared a recess until Tuesday evening, when the bill will be introduced in the upper house. This means that the legislature will be in session for at least the remainder of this week.

MAN MURDERED AND ROBBED

Is Found in Railroad Yard Dead and His Money Gone.

Centerville, Ill., Oct. 2.—John M. Woods, whose home has not been located, was found dead along the Illinois Central tracks in the yards here with his skull crushed and his back badly bruised. He is thought to have been struck by a train. He was paid his salary at the Illinois Central construction camps and, as he had no money on his person when found, there is a suspicion of robbery in the case.

Jealous Man Attempts Suicide.

Upper Sandusky, O., Oct. 2.—Grover C. Middleton, who lived near Colum bus, had a picture of Miss Gertrude Nye of Alameda, his sweetheart, in his hand when he shot himself in the breast. His recovery is doubtful. He was jealous.

Uncle Ezra Says:

"It's a good idea to buy up treasures in heaven, but at the same time don't forget the rainy day possibility on the earth."

Jimmie's Misfortune

"Come here a minute, Jimmie," said that little boy's father when dinner was over and Jimmie had said something about going over to Charlie Spink's to do his arithmetic. "I've got something here which came in the mail this afternoon and I think it will interest you. I want to show it to you anyway."

Jimmie looked on suspiciously while his father took a packet of letters out of his pocket and began to thumb them over.

"I don't suppose you have any idea what it is," his father suggested, looking at him narrowly.

"No, sir," said Jimmie, in a sulky tone which indicated that he knew very well what it was.

"Well, it's a letter," said his father, selecting the missive from the bundle. "It's a letter from your dear teacher. We have had quite a correspondence of late—at least she has, if I sent your teacher as many letters as I received from her. I'm really afraid that your mother would begin to get nervous."

Jimmie's mother frowned and shook her head vigorously over her embroidery in disapproval of this frivolous attitude. Jimmie's father, properly rebuked, returned to the business in hand.

"What's the matter between you and your teacher?" demanded Jimmie's father, turning a stern look upon his son.

"She doesn't like me," Jimmie muttered.

"So I gather from this letter," said his father. "No one reading it would have any suspicion that your teacher wanted to adopt you, for instance. But I'm trying to find out what's at the bottom of her dislike for a quiet, gentle, obedient, truthful little boy whom everybody likes. What do you think it can be, Jimmie?"

"Aw, she says I pegged chalk across the room at Mr. Marsh and I did not!" said Jimmie, resentfully. "An' she said if I didn't own up before school was out she'd send me to the office an' have me suspended."

"Oh, that was it," said his father. "I find something here in the letter about that chalk business. Well, what did happen, Jimmie. Come on, now. There was something about a piece of chalk, you know."

Jimmie looked across at his mother, but her unrelenting face was intent upon her embroidery. His father was eying him searchingly and tapping the table impatiently with the letter.

"Well, I just had a little teeny piece of chalk on a rubber band," related Jimmie, "an' I was just fittin' it in, an' the rubber band slipped. I don't know if it hit Mr. Marsh or not."

"I see," said his father. "Of course you didn't think it would slip when you drew it back and let it go, did you? And what was this about some little girl's hair brush getting into your inkwell?" he went on, referring again to the letter. "That seems to have annoyed your dear teacher a good deal."

"I forgot to cover my inkwell," explained Jimmie, "and her brush must have slipped in. She sits in front of me and she's a regular old squawker."

"I don't like to hear you talk that way about one of your little schoolmates," said Jimmie's father, "especially about a girl. It's too bad that when all these little accidents happen your teacher should get an idea that you're somewhat to blame. I see she says here in the letter: 'James is usually the ring-leader in all defiance of discipline and in the use of noise making devices. Unless there is an immediate improvement I shall have to take drastic action.' You know what that means, Jimmie?"

"No, sir," replied Jimmie, "looking up in unconcealed alarm."

"Well, it might mean a whole lot of things," said his father, "and after your very lucid explanation of your teacher's prejudices against you I suppose I ought to make it clear what she means. If they catch a spy during war time and shoot him at sunrise, that might well be called drastic action."

Jimmie blinked rapidly, but ventured no comment.

"If a man comes out into his back yard and finds a dog killing his chickens," continued his father, "and lets that dog over the head with a club, that would be drastic action. And if I had to take a certain little boy I know down to the basement and give him a good thrashing, that would be drastic action. I'll take it, too, if I get another one of these letters. Do you understand?"

"Yes, sir," replied Jimmie.

Then he slid out of the room and hurried over to Charlie Spink's house. When he was gone his mother looked up from her embroidery with a sigh.

"You might as well have saved your breath," she said. "I don't believe Jimmie was impressed at all by what you said."

Practical Example.

"What's the difference between the phrases 'how much' and 'how many'?" said the young man who is learning English.

"The difference is very important," replied the teacher. "Suppose you are buying fruit. It is quite proper to say 'how much are your berries?' but entirely improper to say 'how many?'"

Small Qualification.

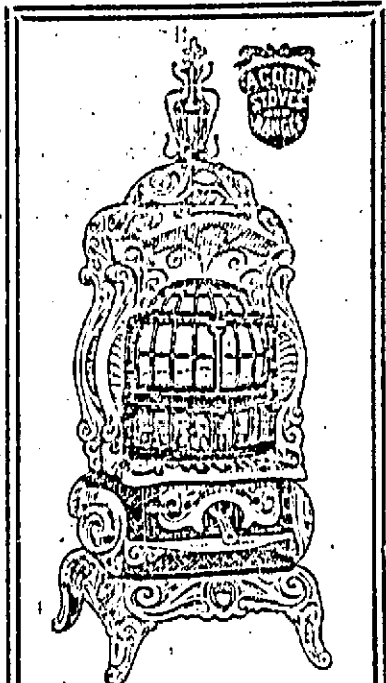

He who is good at making excuses is seldom good for anything else.—Benjamin Franklin.

War. War is that condition which is brought about when the eminent statement of one nation cannot agree with the eminent statement of another nation. To settle the disagreement it becomes necessary to send men who know nothing of the diplomatic angles of the matter to shoot at one another. Many are killed and many more are wounded, and eventually the war is over, with one side or the other victorious. And the eminent statement—how many of them are slain and wounded? Bless you! It would not do for them to take part in the wars they arrange. It is necessary that they be spared to conduct the peace negotiations.

Would Be Rid of Undesirables. Ambassadors from a besieged town were treating with Alexander the Great on the terms of surrender. Alexander ordered that Acuphis, the eldest of the ambassadors, should be the governor of the town, and that he should send immediately as hostages 100 of the best citizens. Acuphis then smilingly observed: "Siro, I could govern better if I then would permit me to send thee 100 of the worst citizens instead of 100 of the best."

Man and His Opportunities. Innumerable men and women had seen the kettle boil, but it occurred to only one that the force which lifted the light might be confined and made to do human service. The man finds or makes his opportunities, and in turn they help to make him.—Hakou Spalding.

Why Not Save It?

The Acorn flue system does it—takes the cold air from the floor through the stove and passes it off the top thoroughly heated.

The machine fitted Ashpit—smooth as glass—gives perfect control of fire in mild weather. The Royal Acorn holds fire for days without attention.

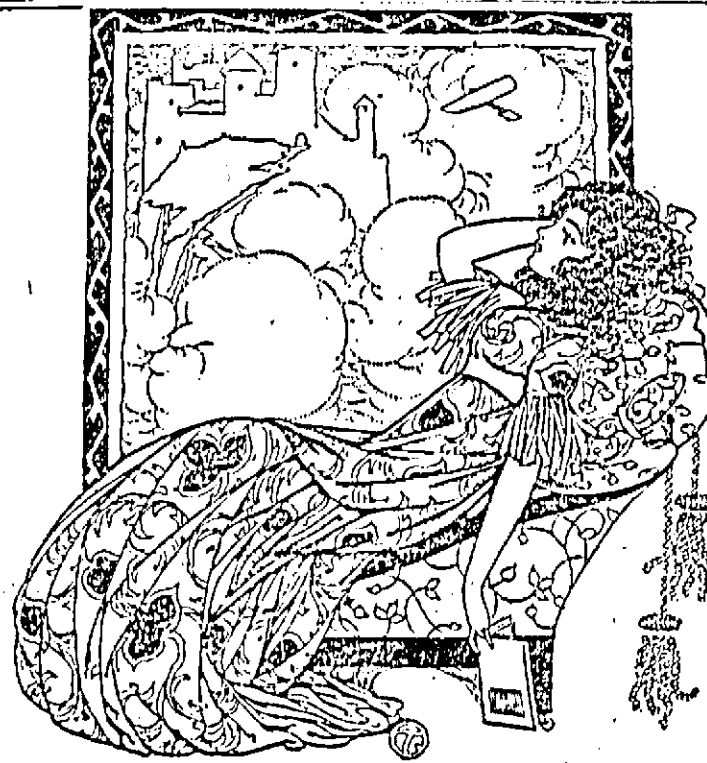

All the nickel is loose—lifts off without removing any bolts.

Pope Leo XIII. and the Pigeon. The illness of the pope recalls a touching story which went the rounds at the time of the illness of Leo XIII. Every day at a certain hour a pigeon, after the manner of Noah's dove, used to come to the study of the pontiff, who, no matter what the business in hand was, would go to the bird and feed it. On the day that the pope was seized with his fatal illness the pigeon came as usual, but found the window closed. The bird flapped its wing against the pane and then struck the glass with its beak. The pope heard it and ordered the window to be opened and his chamberlain to feed it. The bird would not eat, but perched itself on the dying pontiff's couch, and then demonstrated its delight at seeing its old friend and protector.

Sick Headache

Your sick headache is the result of one or more of the vertebrae (spinal bones) pressing on the nerves that supply the head and stomach with life current.

A vertebra subluxated (twisted) like the one in the cut would press on the nerve that leaves the left side of the spinal cord, as this nerve is the conveyor of impulses to and from the stomach there would be a diseased condition in that organ from the right of the same vertebra is a nerve leading to the head, shut off the current this nerve transmits, the result is an abnormal condition in the head.

Where then lies the cause of your sick headache, a spinal bone subluxated in such a way as to press on the nerves obstructing the flow going to the head and stomach. We REMOVE the CAUSE. Come to us. Why suffer longer?

Why is the soda cracker to-day such a universal food?

People ate soda crackers in the old days, it is true—but they bought them from a barrel or box and took them home in a paper bag, their crispness and flavor all gone.

To-day there is a soda cracker which is the recognized staple — Uneeda Biscuit.

Uneeda Biscuit are the most nutritious food made from flour and should be eaten every day by every member of the family from the youngest to the oldest.

Uneeda Biscuit—soda crackers better than any ever made before—made in the greatest bakeries in the world—baked to perfection—packed to perfection—kept to perfection until you take them, oven-fresh and crisp, from their protecting package.

MYSTERY SURROUNDS RETURN OF GEORGE A. KIMMEL.
George A. Kimmel and scenes surrounding his mysterious life. At low-er left Fred W. Cook, an old towns-man and publisher of the Niles Star who firmly believes this man to be the real George Kimmel.
Niles, Mich.—Is or is not the strange appearing man who last week returned from Auburn prison, the real George Kimmel who as a young man many years ago left this town for Kansas City to enter the banking busi-ness. Relatives are divided against each other some claiming that it is their George while his mother and sister have stoutly maintained that their son and brother is dead and this man is an impostor. Telegrams have been pouring in which might be con-structed as proof that he was an im-postor were it not for the positive identification of such old time resi-dents as Fred W. Cook, editor of the Niles Star and others who know Kim-mel as a young man and who now be-lieve he is the so not Mrs. Sarah Kim-mel and should be acknowledged by her.
Kimmel's life has been filled with many mysteries. He left home a young, bright, energetic man of 28 years who entered the banking busi-ness in Kansas City. While there he became involved in a certain opera-tion which circumstantial evidence laid at his feet. He was invited to a hotel and there drugged and when he awoke he was in St. Louis. In St. Louis he claims to have been beaten up pretty severely and his scars, which seem to bear out his statement in the matter. There he was sent to Auburn prison.
As soon as he was released he came almost direct to Niles.
Running through the whole mystery is the determined life insurance com-pany which has stoutly maintained from the first that Kimmel was not dead and refused to pay a $25,000 life insurance policy on the ground that they could produce him when the proper time came. This man was ac-companied from Chicago to Niles by the life insurance agent who, now claims to have presented to the fam-ily their George Kimmel who, for over fifteen years has been thought dead by many. Mrs. Kimmel has no interest in the life insurance policy but so far in spite of the most per-sistent efforts and arguments by friends of Kimmel, who has refused in any way to acknowledge him as her son, constantly maintaining that her George is dead.

TAKEN AT THE COMMAND OF POPE PIUS.

First picture of Pope Pius X. since his recent illness showing him on the first drive through the Vatican gardens as a convalescent. Peculiar interest attaches to this photograph by reason of the fact that the Pope said of it and others that were taken at the same time: "Give them as large a publication as possible, thus show-ing to the world my complete recovery." Two influential members of the Pope's official family are shown riding with him.

500 Die in Warship Catastrophe.
French battleship "Albatros", which went down off the coast at Miranville with 500 men on board in one of the greatest catastrophes in naval his-tory and the greatest that ever be-fell the French navy.
The explosion which sank the bat-tleship occurred early in the morning of September 25th, and within 19 minutes after the first magazine ex-ploded the battleship had gone to the bottom, carrying with her practi-cally every man on board.
